CHAP. II.

1. AND it came to paſs at the End of one whole Month, that the Elders of the Children of the great City went forth daily to conſider of thoſe Things which vexed the Land.

2. And they aſſembled together in the great Houſe which lieth in the Eaſt, without the Gates of the Bounds of the Paulites.

3. Now there aroſe amongſt them ſeveral poſſeſſed with evil Spirits, and they plagued them very ſore, ſo that there was no Peace in the Place where they aſſembled.

4. But they urged one another with evil Sayings by Night and alſo by Day; and they diſputed amongſt themſelves concerning the Tax on the Children afar off.

5. ¶ And all the Sayings of theſe great Men availed nothing, for they diſagreed amongſt themſelves, and they knew not what to do.

6. And it came to paſs, that while the Elders of the People of the Sanhedrim were at Variance, that the People were more and more grieved and oppreſſed under the Law.

7. And the Acts and the Murmurs of the Children of the Iſles afar off, are they not to be found in the Chronicles of Intelligence diſperſed from the Eaſt to the Weſt, and from the North to the South?

8. ¶ And behold they cried unto the People of the great City, ſaying,

9. Now are the Days of Oppreſſion come upon us, and the Land which is called the Land of a free-born Race, is it not now become the Seat of Slavery and Darkneſs?

10. But hear, O ye mighty Men of the Earth! For this Cauſe will we riſe, and fight for the Sake of our Children, and our Children's Children.

11. Upon the lower Places behind the Walls, and upon the higher Places will we ſet ourſelves and our Families.

12. And we will arm ourſelves with our Swords, and our Spears, and with our Bows; and we will cut down before us thoſe who ſhall bring unto us any of the Marks upon Paper, or the Lamb-ſkins.

13. And it ſhall come to paſs that in the Day we hear thereof, that we will aſſemble ourſelves together, and we will deſtroy them by Fire, and puniſh the Evil-doers, ſo that they ſhall not return.

14. ¶ Now about this Time behold two Captains approached unto them with the Marks upon the Corners of the Paper, to deliver them unto the People.

15. And the Men of Philadelphia aroſe, and the Children of New-York came together, when the Tidings had reached their Ears.

16. (Now the Name of the Captains of the Ships were Thomas the Son of Robin, and William the Spark; but they knew not the Evil that was coming upon them.)

17. ¶ And they aſſembled together, and came even unto the Edge of the Water, and they entered the Ships upon the Water, and demanded the Keys of the ſtrong Holds.

18. And they got Lights of both Tallow and of Wax, and they opened all the ſtrong Locks, from one End of the Veſſel unto the other,

19. And they ſeized the marked Papers, and put them into a ſmall Veſſel, and carried them upon the dry Land, and the Number of the Cheſts of the Papers that they took, were three and two and five.

20. And behold when they got them upon the Land, that they broke them into Pieces, and they made therewith a Fire, and they danced round the Flame.

21. Thus did the Children of the C------s, before the Eyes of the Soldiers and the Captains, for they minded them not.

22. Moreover, they entered the Houſes of the Elders, and demanded there alſo the Papers with the Marks, and they deſtroyed them all, ſo that none were to be ſeen in the Streets, or upon the Poſts, or in the Houſes of thoſe who ſell Ale.

23. So there was great Joy in the Land, and the People cried out with a loud Voice, No Sp, no Sp upon us, or our Children, or our Children's Children.

CHAP III.

1. The Speech of another Elder in the Sanhedrim. 16. They agree to take off the Mark on the Paper. 18. The Ruler of the People goes amongſt them. 34. He conſents to ſet the People free.

1. NOW about this Time one of the Elders of the Land, and one who loved his King and Country, came in unto the Sanhedrim; and he heard the Sayings of the wiſe Men, and was very wroth.

2. Now the Name of the Man was --------, and he came from the Land of his Inheritance, even from the Land of the Northingtons, and he was a Pittite.

3. And behold he roſe up amongſt the Elders, and he gave Counſel unto them, ſaying,

4. Why will ye ſtrive to deſtroy the People of the Land; and why will ye thus bring down the Curſe of the Nation upon you?

5. Mine Eyes have beheld the Steps you have taken, and my Ears alſo have heard the Report thereof.

6. I have kept my Silence while I was yet among you, leſt peradventure I might ſpeak the Things that were wrong.

7. But now have I ſeen the Diſtreſs of the People; and their Cries have I heard, even afar off.

8. For this Cauſe ſpeak I now among you; therefore I pray you liſten unto my Words, and give heed to the Advice of a Friend.

9. Let the People be free from the Bondage wherewith you have enſlaved them: And let their greater Ships and their ſmaller ones be looſed from the Side of the Land.

10. Let the Merchants and the Traders rejoice; let the Poor and Diſtreſſed be redeemed from their Want.

11. Even as one greater than me hath deſired you to do, even ſo do ye, for the Good of the Children of the Land of Britain.

12. For behold their Eyes are now upon you for Help and for Council; and to deliver them from their Troubles, and Diſtreſſes they feel, even in the City, and in the Towns, and in the Iſles afar off.

13. Now when the Elders heard all that was ſaid, they communed amongſt themſelves, ſaying;

14. If we let not this People free, we ſhall be curſed even in our own Land, in the Land of Britain ſhall we be curſed: And they will rank us amongſt the Buteites, and the Anti-Sejanarians, and we ſhall bring Affliction upon us.

15. We will therefore caſt Lots how it ſhall be: And if the Buteites and the Shepherdarians are not too mighty amongſt us, we will take off the Load from the People of the Land.

16. ¶ And they did ſo; and they numbered the Number of the Pittites, and the Georgeites, and they were very great: So they reſolved, the Marks on the Corner of the Paper, and on the Lambſkins, ſhould be taken away, that they might vex the Land no more.

17. Now on the eighteenth Day of the third Month, Preparation was made for the Ruler of the People to come unto the Elders of the People.

18. ¶ And behold his Horſemen and Footmen, and the Soldiers of the Guard, were gathered together; and his Coach of Gold was alſo ready to bear him unto the great Houſe.

19. And it was about the twelfth Hour that he went out before the People into the Coach, and he went his Way.

20. Now as he was going, it came to paſs that a great Multitude aſſembled themſelves together, and they were exceeding glad, for he was a good Ruler, and one that loved God, and the Welfare of his People.

21. And they ſhouted aloud with their Hats in their Hands, even three Times did they ſhout, and it pleaſed the Ruler of the People.

22. Now when he came in unto the Sanhedrim, behold the Acts of the Elders of the Land were laid before his Eyes.

23. The Act of the Marks was alſo lain amongſt them, and when he looked thereon, he ſighed.

24. ¶ So it came to paſs that he alſo conſented that it be taken away from the People, for that it ſhould vex them no more.

25. This did the Ruler before the Eyes of the People, and before the Pittites and the Butetites, and the Anti-Sejanarians, and the Shepherdarians.

26. And when he had done all theſe Things, behold he returned unto the Houſe of his Habitation, and the People bleſſed him for the Work of his Hands.

The IVth Chapter of the BOOK of AMERICA.

1. The Men of the Cities aſſemble. 3. Their Diſcourſe to each other. 11. They petition the Grand Sanhedrim. 14. The Lamentation of George the Treaſurer. 19. News Papers. 22. And hireling Scribes. 25. The Scribes write againſt taking off the Tribute. 26. The Subject of their Letters. 32. They prevail not. 34. But are anſwered. 38. The Tribute taken off. 39. Great Rejoicings thereat. 41. The Song of the People.

1. ¶ AFTER theſe Things the Men of London, and the Men of Brimingham, and the Men of the great Cities and ſtrong Towns; even all who made Cloth, and worked in Iron and in Steel, and in ſundry Metals, communed together.

2. And they met in the Gates of their Cities, and of their Towns;

3. ¶ And they ſaid unto each other, "Behold now the Children of America are waxed ſtrong; and they have not only oppoſed the Men who were ſent by George the Treaſurer to collect the Tribute on the Marks which are called Stamps;

4. But they make unto themſelves the Wares wherewith we were wont to furniſh them:

5. And they will buy no more of us unleſs this Tribute is taken off:

6. And moreover, they cannot pay unto us the Monies which they owe; and the Loſs is great unto us, and the Burthen thereof exceeding grievous:

7. Neither can we give Bread unto thoſe who labour for us; and behold they, and their Wives, and their little Ones, have not Bread to eat.

8. What then ſhall we do? and wherewith ſhall we be comforted?

9. Shall we not petition our Lord the King, and his Princes, and the wiſe Men of the Nation, even the Grand Sanhedrim of the Nation?

10. For we know they are good and gracious, and will hearken to the Voice of the People, who open their Mouths and cry unto them for Bread."

11. ¶ Then the Men of London, and the Men of the great Cities ſat them down and wrote petitions.

12. And they ſent Men from amongſt them, that were goodly Men to look at; and they ſtood before the Grand Sanhedrim:

13. And they preſented their Petitions, and they were read, and Days were appointed to conſider them.

14. ¶ Now it came to paſs, that while theſe Things were doing, that George the late Treaſurer, and thoſe who had joined in laying the Tribute on the Stamps, were wroth and their Countenances fell:

15. And they ſaid in themſelves, "If this Tribute is taken off, then William the late Scribe, and thoſe who are now in Authority, and who have taken our Places will be had in Remembrance among Men.

16. And we alſo ſhall be had in Remembrance, but it will be with evil Remembrance indeed.

17. For behold the People will ſay, it is we that have curſed the land; and it is they who have bleſſed it.

18. Therefore we muſt beſtir ourſelves like Men, to oppoſe the taking off of the Tribute, let whatſoever hap befides."

19. ¶ And in thoſe Days there were Papers ſold daily among the Men of Britain, which declared thoſe which were joined in Marriage, thoſe which were gathered unto their Fathers, and thoſe who had found Favour in the Eyes of the King and his Rulers, and were exalted above their Brethren,

20. And alſo of whatſoever was done in the Land.

21. And theſe Papers were called News-Papers; and all Men read them.

22. ¶ And there were alſo certain Scribes who let themſelves out to hire.

23. And one of the Chief of theſe was a Levite, and his Name was Anti-Sejanus.

24. And theſe Scribes were hired to poiſon the Minds of the People, and to cauſe them to ſet their Faces againſt the Men of America their Brethren.

25. ¶ Then came Anti-Sejanus and Pacificus, and Pro Patria, and ſundry other Children of Belial, and they wrote Letters which were put into the News-Papers.

26. ¶ And they ſaid in thoſe Letters, "Men and Brethren! Behold the Men of America are rich, and they are grown inſolent being full of Bread;

27. And they are not mindful of the Days of old when they were poor, but they would withdraw themſelves from under the Wing of their Mother Britain.

28. And they would eſtabliſh themſelves as a People, and ſuffer us to have no Power over them.

29. Behold they have oppoſed the Edict, and are become as Rebels.

30. Wherefore then go we not forth with a ſtrong Hand, and force them unto Obedience to us?

31. And if they are ſtill murmuring, and ſhall ſtill oppoſe our Authority, why do we not ſend Fire and Sword into their Land, and cut them off from the Face of the Earth?

32. ¶ And theſe Children of Belial who dipped their Pens for Hire, and who would ſcatter Plagues in Wantonneſs and ſay, This is Sport.

33. Even theſe men wrote ſtill more. Yet they prevailed not.

34. ¶ For they were anſwered, "Lo the Men of America are our Brethren; they are the Children of our Forefathers; and ſhall we ſeek their Blood? If they are miſtaken, ſhall we not pity them, and keep them obedient unto us through Love?

35. For behold, it is a wiſe Saying of old, That many Flies may be caught with a little Honey; but with much Vinegar ye can catch not one.

36. Neither are they inclined to be a People of themſelves, but wiſh to be yet under our Wing."

37. And the Counſel of theſe Men prevailed; for the Counſel of the hireling Scribes was defeated; even as was the Counſel of the wicked Achitophel in the Days of David King of Iſrael.

38. ¶ For behold, the Grand Sanhedrim took off the Tribute from the People; and George the gracious King of Britain aſſented thereto.

39. ¶ Then were great Rejoicings made throughout the Land; and Fires were lighted up in the Streets, and the People eat, drank, and were merry.

40. And they ſang a new Song, ſaying,

41. ¶ "Long live the King; let his Name be glorious, and may his Rule over us be happy.

42. And may the Princes and the Rulers of the Land, and the wiſe Men of our Lord the King, and all thoſe who joined to take off this Tribute, be bleſſed.

43. For they have liſtened unto the Cries of the People, and have given Ear to the Voice of Calamity; they have procured the Payment of the Debts of the Merchants of this Land, Eaſe to the Children of America, and Labour and Bread to the Poor.

44. And the Women ſhall ſing their Praiſes; and the little Children ſhall liſp out, Bleſs the King and his Sanhedrim.

45. For we were deſolate and diſtreſſed; our Hammers and our Shuttles were uſeleſs; for we got no Work; neither had we Bread to eat for ourſelves, nor our little Ones.

46. But now we can work, rejoice, and be exceeding glad."

47. And there was Peace in the Land.

48. But to Anti-Sejanus and the Reſt of the hirelings there was Shame, and the Scorn of all good Men fell upon them, and their Employers, ſo that their Names were had in Abomination.

LISBON, March 15.

OUR Court has sent over an Answer to the Remonstrances presented by the British Envoy, relative to the Imprisonment of the Sieur M'Nemara; it is very long and circumstantial; but will not, we are apprehensive, be satisfactory, as it rather attempts to justify that Step than to offer a Reparation.

We are in strong Expectation here, that the British Parliament will allow us to send Fruits and Salt very soon to their American Colonies; this is a Trade which will be very advantageous to us, and which cannot be in the least prejudicial to the People of England, as their Colonies stand greatly in Need of those Articles, and cannot be properly supplied from the Mother-Country.

We have it from undoubted Authority, that an Attempt has lately been made to assassinate General Paoli. This dark Enterprize was to have been effected by a Genoese Officer. He has however been discovered, and cut in Pieces by the Corsican Militia, who came up with him in the Woods, to which he had retreated. Whether this Wretch has been set on by the Republick, to take Advantage of the present Tranquillity in the Island, we cannot positively say; but certainly so horrid an Attempt is no good Preliminary towards an Accommodation with the fallaces Ligures.

It is reported, that the Right Honourable Lord Mount Stewart will be nominated to go Ambassador to Vienna, in the room of Lord Viscount Stormont.

They write from Berlin, that the King of Prussia has appointed M. Bohmer to be his Resident at the court of Vienna.

On the second instant Prince Albert of Saxony, repaired to the court of Vienna, attended by a brilliant retinue, to demand publickly the Arch-Duchess Mary-Christina in marriage. In the audience granted him on that occasion, the Prince addressed himself to the Empress-Queen, then to the Emperor, for their consent. This being obtained, he presented his portrait, enriched with fine brilliants, to the Arch-Duchess, and afterwards went with the same retinue to the apartment of the Empress-Queen, to notify to her Majesty what had been done. The Rejoicings at Vienna, on the above account, began the same day, though the marriage was not to be celebrated till a week after. Among other ceremonies, a publick table was kept according to custom, at which the royal pair took the first seats next their Imperial Majesties. Prince Clement of Saxony, who is to give them the nuptial benediction, was admitted to a seat at it.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, April 7, 1766.

"On the 23*th of last month, a Huissier, (a serjeant or bailiff) was sent to M. Le Breton, register to the Parliament for criminal matters, with an arret of council, enjoining him to deliver up to the said Huissier, all the Proceedings relative to the affair of Britanny. The Register made answer, that the Parliament would not acknowledge the arrets of council, unless they were backed by letters patent; upon this the Huissier produced a Lettre de Cachet, ordering him to conform on pain of disobedience. The Register then told him, that the proceedings in question were in the hands of M. Goesard de Monsaber, a counsellor of the Parliament, appointed to make a report of the process of which these made part. The Huissier, whose orders did not extend to a counsellor of the Parliament, found his mission at an end. It is thought that the pieces in question were afterwards delivered to a Musqueteer, authorized for that purpose. They relate to the case of the Marchioness de la Roche, who whilst she was confined in the Bastile, was to have been tried by commission established at the Arsenal; but at the requisition of the Parliament, her trial was referred to the Grand Chamber, jointly with the Tournelle.*"

It is said that commissions have been sent over to North-America, since the repeal of the Stamp-Act, for building 4000 tons of shipping, for the use of the merchants of this city.

We hear from Guernsey, that some hundred French emigrants were preparing to embark there this summer, under the direction of the Rev. Mr. Leveritz, for West-Florida: This gentleman carried over a large number in August, 1766.

We hear that in the approaching discussion of General Warrants, which is expected to come on to-morrow, a motion will be made, by a patriotic Commoner, to set aside the legality of verdicts founded on presumptive, not positive evidence, in all succeeding prosecutions on the part of the Crown.

We are also credibly informed, that the former rates and duties granted on houses, windows, and lights, is to cease and determine on the 10*th day of next October, and that other rates and duties will be established in lieu thereof.*

A bill for the better regulating the price of coals and candles is intended to be brought into parliament this session.

There is likely to be the warmest contest for the borough of Shrewsbury, that ever was know in England, the nine gentlemen that are candidates, standing each on their own interest.

We hear one hundred thousand pounds in silver, will soon be coined in the Tower, for the Royal Bank of Scotland, on application having been made to the Lords of the Treasury.

A considerable quantity of half-pence continues to be every week struck at the Tower, for the use of the people of Ireland, and on Friday some tons were exported to Dublin.

They write from Somersetshire and Wiltshire, that the cloathing trade in those counties has not been known, for many years, to be so brisk as it is at present, scarcely one manufacturer in that way being now unemployed.

They write from Copenhagen, of the 7*th instant, that John Albert, Baron de Korff, who had resided* 25 years as minister at that court from the Empress of Russia, died there that Day, in the 70*th year of his age.*

There is to be a Lottery this year of exactly the same number of tickets, prizes, blanks and prices, as last year.

ELISABETH CAMPBELL,

TAKES this Opportunity of returning Thanks for the good Encouragement her Husband ALEXANDER CAMPBELL met with, hopes for a Continuance, and begs leave to inform the Publick, that the Trade is carried on as before, by a Journeyman lately from London, who managed the Business during his Sickness here, so that Gentlemen may depend on being as well and reasonably served as any where in Town.------ And being impowered by her Husband to receive and settle his Accounts, would be greatly obliged to those Gentlemen whose Accounts have been due for some Time, to make immediate Payment, as Necessity will oblige her to pay the Creditors.

AS I intend to remove to Beaufort in November, I shall dispose of the plantation I now live on, containing 500 acres of land, 100 of which is cleared, and about 80 acres of pine barren, the rest is good corn and indico land as most in the province, with some rice land, has a great quantity of fire-wood on it, and two large sets of indico vats, with a good reservoir of water; there are two good dwelling houses, a large barn, and all other necessary buildings thereon; the situation as pleasant and as healthy as any in the province, is withih six miles of Charlestown, and open to the sea; it is an exceeding good summer and winter range for cattle, as there are some hundred acres of hard marsh adjoining the said plantation. Any person that has a mind to purchase, may be satisfied of the goodness of the land by enquiring of the inhabitants of said parish, as most of them thoroughly knows the land. I have about sixty or seventy head of cattle, and thirty head of horses and mares, which I will dispose of. Any person purchasing the said land, may have three or four years credit, giving good security, and paying interest.

GEORGE BARKSDALE.

FOUND by a fellow of Mr. Thomas Gadsden, on the Road just without the Town-Gate, an old double read leather pocket book, containing a parcel of loose papers, and one or two notes indorsed and orders in favour of Burill Hill. The owner, by paying for this advertisement, and applying to me at Messrs. Godfrey & Gadsden's store, may have it again.
